

The Pride Test

- I tend to speculate why people are not as considerate as I think they should be.
- When someone is insensitive, I let it bother me more than it really should.
- Impatience or edginess overcomes me when people act incompetently.
- Sometimes I fantasize about what life would be like if I could have ideal circumstances.
- My moods tend to rise and fall, depending on how others show me respect.
- When I express my opinions, I am disgruntled if the other person does not receive them well.
- I am known for having a strong personality.
- When I witness something good in another person's life, my initial reaction is to wish for the same thing in my life.
- In social circles, I feel the need to keep an unblemished reputation, even if it requires a cover-up.
- I would prefer to avoid disclosure of a personal nature.
